

Where is your engineering or planning career taking you?

Fast track facts

- NZ has 10,900 kilometres of state highways and motorways providing a strategic link to 80,000 kilometres of local roads.
- The state highway network is a national asset valued at $NZ17.9 billion.
- 50% of the 36 billion vehicle kilometres traveled in New Zealand each year are on state highways.
- We lead the world in environmental roading initiatives, and have won the International Road Federation's Global Road Achievement Award for Environmental Mitigation three times.

New Zealand's government land transport sector is changing. We don't yet know our new organisation's name, but at least one thing is certain - now more than ever we need talented and enthusiastic professionals on our team.

For more information call 0064 4 499 6600 or contact: human.resources@transit.govt.nz

New Zealand Government

PUBLISHED IN SEPTEMBER 2007

"I love living in Wellington. There are so many things to do and it's easy to get around. It's wonderful to have a house with a garden, and still be just a short distance from work, the beach, and the bush. The quality of life is great, and Transit has such an open, positive culture."

ANN CARRUTHERS,
NATIONAL TRAVEL DEMAND MANAGER
Joined in June 2006 from Falkirk, Scotland

"I'm Project Manager for the new Harbour Link Bridge in Tauranga, and I've enjoyed being given such a high level of responsibility. My wife and I have just built a new house and we can't wait to set up the barbeque for the summer."

KEVIN REID, PROJECT MANAGER
Joined in February 2006 from Kent, England

CHANGE LANES NOW

We need engineers and planners to help build, maintain and operate New Zealand's state highway network.

We offer:

- › A competitive salary
- › Access to ongoing training
- › Continuing professional development
- › The chance to develop networks within the land transport sector
- › Interesting and varied work, with the opportunity to work in a range of locations
- › The opportunity to plan the future transportation system for New Zealand
- › The opportunity to take projects from inception and fulfil the client role
- › The chance to work for an award-winning leader in environmental sustainability
- › Immigration accreditation
- › Relocation assistance and support
- › A fun place to work

Exciting changes are taking place in New Zealand's government land transport sector.

Be a part of the action by joining New Zealand's equivalent of the Highways Agency.

Job opportunities

If you have experience in:

- › Traffic Management
- › Traffic Control
- › Road Asset Management
- › Project Management
- › ITS / Signal Engineering
- › Safety Engineering

Talk to us.

Make your next career choice a lifestyle choice.